

Critical Path: GIV-68 → GIV-75 → GIV-22 → GIV-7

First and foremost, before any further progress is to be made, all the 'cleanup' tasks need to be completed. These tasks are GIV-68 and GIV-75. Together as a team we noticed a lot of inconsistencies and oversights that we made during the earlier sprints when developing the backend in particular that we realized should be dealt with before future stories were completed. These changes have an impact on the frontend which is why it must be modified as well. We also noticed some changes that could be made on the front-end in terms of a UI/UX perspective that we thought should be completed sooner rather than later. The next two tasks are the ones expected to take the longest, while also being the most important. GIV-22 is one of the primary functions of the project, so we suspect that much more time will go into it compared to other tasks. GIV-7 is similar in this way.
