

Need a burndown chart and

Explanations:

This burndown chart makes sense since the majority of the user stories were finished before Feb 10, however we chose not to mark these stories as finished until we were certain that they worked after the merges. Hence, on Feb 10 when we merged all the user stories we marked all of the stories as finished and that is why we see a waterfall shape.

Velocity:

The planned velocity matches the velocity we planned since we finished all the tasks. We are unable to compare this sprint velocity with the previous since the previous sprint was our first.